

From Sustainability to Climate Justice

Conference—May 20–25, 2018

Feeling overwhelmed by the climate crisis?

Do recycling and shrinking our carbon footprint really make a difference?

Key Presenters and Workshops

Rev. Fred Small, a UU minister for climate justice and former environmental lawyer, will guide us to quicken our spirits in the struggle for climate justice.

Friction Farm with Christine Stay and Aidan Quinn will provide inspiration through music and a workshop featuring their energy efficient home.

Pam and Charley Rogers, who volunteer with the Charter for Compassion International (CCI), will do workshops connecting communication skills to climate justice work.

Rick Crume, formerly with the EPA, where he helped write the Clean Power Plan, will provide information about the science of climate change.

Additional workshops will help you learn about critical issues, such as health, food supply, energy, divestment, natural hazards, and exploitation of resources.

Where? The Mountain Retreat and Learning Center, Highlands, NC
Phone: 828-526-5838

Registration Fee includes program, lodging, and meals.

$ 560 per adult/double occupancy -- 6 days/5 nights

$ 735 per adult for single supplement

$ 350 commuter rate, includes program and meals

Register at www.themountainrlc.org/

This conference will broaden our understanding of climate change and environmental justice and deepen our resolve to engage in the work of climate justice.